AND SON INHERIT
CAMPBELL ESTATE*James E. Campbell is Executor of Morrisville Woman's Will*THE LECOMPTE WILL*Four Children Beneficiaries of Estate of Late Hulmeville Man

DOYLESTOWN, June 2.—Elizabeth Campbell, Morrisville, who left an estate of $8500, bequeathed $100 to the wardens and vestrymen of St. James' Episcopal Church, Bristol, to provide care for a burial lot in the churchyard.

A son, James E. Campbell, 500 West Bridge St., Morrisville, who was also named executor, and a daughter-in-law, Mary Mabel Campbell, were named residuary beneficiaries of the will which was written Feb. 28, 1950. The testatrix, who died April 4, left a personal estate of $2,000 and real estate, valued at $6500, including properties at 320 Jefferson ave., and 606 Clymer street, Bristol.

Four children will inherit the $1,000 estate of George F. LeCompte, Hulmeville, who died March 13. The testator, who wrote his will May 28, 1937, wrote a codicil October 11, 1948, when he named a daughter, Ruth LeCompte Haefner, Hulmeville, executrix.

A son, William S. Paul, 211 East Maple avenue, Langhorne the sole beneficiary, was granted the letters of administration in the estate of Mabel Paul, Langhorne, who died March 20, leaving an estate of $300.

Letters of administration in the estate of Nunzio Romano, Bristol, were granted to Joseph A. Romano, 309 Lafayette street, amounting to a personal estate of $1,000 and real estate, valued at $4500, located at 309 Lafayette street, Bristol. Heirs include the son and two daughters, Virginia Maraini and Carmella De Marchos. The decedent died April 5.

In the estate of William J. Palmer Delany, Upper Makefield township, letters of administration have been granted to Walter H. Wright, amounting to a personal estate of $500 and real estate valued at $100, consisting of vacant lot in Upper Makefield township. Beneficiaries are two brothers, Roscoe, Phila., and Charles, Trenton, N. J., and a sister, Mrs. Jesse Ulrich, Phila. The decedent died February 11.

Agnes Rainey, Warminster township, the wife of the decedent, Thomas Rainey, who died January 19, 1950, was named executrix.

"Second Woman" Film
Suspense Masterpiece

Harry M. Popkin, recognized as one of Hollywood's keenest showmen, is one of the few film producers in the independent field who is at the same time an active exhibitor.

"The Second Woman," a romantic drama, is the current production of this astute producer. Both Robert Young and Betsy Drake agreed to star in the picture after a single reading of the script, which is based on an original screen story by Robert Smith.

"The Second Woman" opens on Sunday at the Grand Theatre. Besides the two stars a top supporting cast is headed by John Sutton and includes Florence Bates, Morris Carnovsky, Henry O'Neill and Jean Rogers.

Three newcomers to the screen make their debuts in this masterpiece of suspense. Pat Cansino appears as a Spanish dancer in the fiesta sequence. Shirley Ballard, 24-year-old graduate of USC, portrays Robert Young's ill-fated fiancée, and Vici Raaf portrays Young's secretary.

3M Firm Grants "Cost Of Living" Increases

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 2.—Cost of living increases of $20 per month went into effect today for general office, technical and engineering employees of Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Company.

The increase applies to more than 3,500 of the firm's 10,500 employees and will be effective in all plants and offices. Production employees not covered by the increase already have received wage boosts which in most cases amount to the full increase permitted under the Wage Stabilization Act.

The cost of living increase was granted in recognition of the inflationary trend caused by the Korean War and the speeded up defense effort. It is in addition to merit raises provided by 3M's regular job classification and employee performance program.

Among those to receive such increases are 81 at the Bristol, Pa., plant.

WHERE STANDS THE SOUTH?

It now appears likely that President Truman will make the race for re-election—as a matter of fact, it is becoming more and more obvious that he has so intended all the time, and merely acted "coy" for political effect.

This being the probable prospect, the question arises: Where will the South stand with regard to President Truman next year?

The question holds one of the keys to the outcome. The quickest and easiest way for the President to be defeated would be for the South once again to turn against him, but next year to do the one thing which can possibly make Dixie's mistrust of Mr. Truman effective—that is, vote Republican.

There will be those who will quickly say that the time hasn't yet arrived when the South will vote Republican. The answer to that is that the South voted quite largely Republican in 1928, casting more of its support to Republican Hoover than to Democrat Smith.

Again, there will be those who quickly say that the 1928 election in the South turned on a religious issue, and that no such issue is going to rise next year. The answer is that, for whatever reasons, in one crucial election the South did vote heavily Republican—and the world didn't come to an end, or the sun fall out of the heavens.

Surely it cannot be argued that if, as happened once under certain circumstances, the South voted Republican out of motives dealing with sectarianism—it still would not consider doing so for reasons rising out of patriotism.

As a matter of fact, that is substantially the issue as it presents itself below the Mason-Dixon line—patriotism vs. patronage.

That's the way it stood, back in 1948—and, confronted by the choice of bowing their head to the CIO-Truman yoke, and standing up for America's destiny and integrity, the South largely said, "To heck with patronage," and stood firm against Truman.

Under some circumstances, the Dixiecrat movement would have cut away enough of the Truman strength to insure his defeat. But the 1948 contest was not that simple. For a variety of reasons not worth enlarging upon here, half of the American electorate got either disgusted or bored with the campaign, and stayed home on election day.

Of those who did vote, more than half voted against the President. However, the larger half of the turnout was split between Dixiecrats and Republicans, and the President had a plurality of the ballots, though not a majority. Mr. Truman went back to the White House with the scant satisfaction of having received the support of only one-fourth of the voters in this country, and of less than half of those who cast their votes.

On the other hand, the Dixiecrats had the equally scant satisfaction of looking back after it was all over, and realizing that if they had called off the Dixiecrat movement before it ever got started, and cast their votes for the Republican ticket, then they could have helped elect a new President in the place of the one they so bitterly opposed.

Today the situation is somewhat changed from early 1948. At that time, for example, the CIO and Truman forces were in tight command of Congress. Today the Dixiecrat element is the balance of power there, holding all key spots. The close labor tie-in of the Truman Administration has been weakened, if not broken, as a result of labor's political fiasco last year.

The danger back in 1948 was an outright delivery of our government to state socialism. Today the dangers are quite as

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Secretary of State Acheson, in his first appearance before the Senate committee investigating General MacArthur's dismissal, testified that the policy advocated by the general represented "a gamble" with national security and might have set off World War III. The Secretary contended that the Korean conflict was not a stalemate but a great victory since it had inflicted a "severe setback" on the Communists and their imperialistic aims. Over Mr. Acheson's objections, the committee voted to make public a confidential memorandum of Dec. 23, 1949, in which the State Department pictured Formosa as unimportant to this nation's military security.

Enemy resistance along most of the front in Korea continued to mount but in the central mountainous region United Nations forces seized Yangu, an important road junction east of the Hwachon reservoir. The Communists, after previously stoutly defending Yangu, gave up the town without further resistance. Enemy reinforcements were reported bolstering front lines to check the United Nations offensive before it reached the main Communist supply bases. Peiping said its troops in Korea were not making more progress because they lacked supplies.

Secretary General Lie declared that now, with the Communist troops forced back of the Thirty-eighth Parallel and their aggressive designs frustrated, might be the time for the United Nations to try again for a peaceful settlement of the war. General Collins asserted that the Korean conflict had demonstrated that aggressive communism was bound to fail, with severe punishment.

President Truman interceded in the dispute between Iran and Britain over Teheran's intention to nationalize the oil industry. A personal note from Mr. Truman to Iranian Premier Mossadegh was said to emphasize the dangers inherent in the conflict and to welcome further negotiation.

Final returns from Ireland's parliamentary election showed the de Valera party had won 69 seats as against a maximum of 78 for Prime Minister Costello's coalition.

HUTTONS ARE HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hutton, North Radcliffe street, entertained on Memorial day at a buffet supper on the lawn of their home. Approximately 50 guests were entertained from Bristol, Doylestown, New Hope, Philadelphia, Pa.; Burlington and Trenton, N. J.

BRICK FOR MT. VERNON EAST SLAVE QUARTERS

George Washington never slept in the residence pictured above, but brick from the structure, soon to be razed, has been designated for the reconstruction of the east slave quarters at Mt. Vernon, his former home in Virginia which is now a national shrine. This 225-year old house is located at the main gate on the 3800-acre site in Falls township, where U. S. Steel's Fairless Works is being built. The dwelling was constructed by William Blies on land which was granted to him by William Penn. It is a brick and stone structure covered with cement, and has evoked considerable comment from members of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. Arrangements also have been made by Walter M. Macomber, architect for the restoration of Mt. Vernon, to obtain materials from two other dwellings on the steel mill site for use at Mt. Vernon.

HEAR NAT'L. PRESIDENT,
WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE*Bucks County League of Women Voters Gathers at Pennsbury*OFFICERS INTRODUCED

TULLYTOWN, June 2.—Mrs. John G. Lee, Farmington, Conn., national president of the League of Women Voters, was speaker at the meeting of Bucks County Leagues, held at Pennsbury, Tuesday, with more than 100 present.

Mrs. Leroy Nixon, Newtown, president of the Bucks League, introduced Mrs. Lee, and the officers, namely, Mrs. Donald Bishop, Philadelphia, president of Pa. League; Mrs. Robert Wetherald, Norberth, retiring president; Mrs. R. J. M. Gantz, Carversville and Mrs. Chas. Carroll, Solebury, state league directors; Mrs. Bernhard Ostrolenk, Solebury, former director; Mrs. J. C. Merrill, president of the N. J. League; Mrs. William McNulty, president of Trenton League; Mrs. Francis Garver, Ivyland; Mrs. Philip Naumburg; Mrs. William Reading, Mrs. Robert Biddle, 3rd and Mrs. Mary Walker. The latter four are presidents, respectively of New Hope-Solebury, Yardley-Morrisville, Newtown and Southampton leagues.

Mrs. Lee stated that no organization is as well equipped to help preserve our system of government as the League of Women Voters. She stated the decisions made in the United States in the coming months will make world history. "We must consider what is best for the country, as a whole, — it is our responsibility to bring about discussion and have active participation in the government, to stimulate public interest and to raise the standard of the people elected to our public offices. We must think of new ways to face old problems. People with League training do constructive work on such a program. What is happening to our freedom of thought and expressions? A great deal of emotional and uninformed discussion is going on. Our Voters Service is a strong cog in the League. This service has expanded all over the country — now 29 per cent of the members do voters' service.

An interesting question and answer period followed. Mrs. Lee stressed the fact that the League is a non-partisan organization, that League members must be members of a political party, but at all times must subordinate politics in League work.

CHARTER IS GRANTED
EDDINGTON FIRE CO.*Court Has Busy Week; Two Divorces Are Also Granted*ONE ASSAULT CASE

DOYLESTOWN, June 2.—A decree was handed down this week by President Judge Hiram H. Keller by which Eddington Fire Co. Relief Association was granted a charter; a Doylestown couple was granted a divorce, as was also a Beaver College dietitian.

Mrs. Florence M. Smith, 28, of Doylestown, was granted a divorce, upon payment of costs, from Thomas A. Smith, 29. The two were married Dec. 15, 1945, by the late Rev. George M. Whitenack.

A Beaver College dietitian, Lena Critchfield Warren, 39, of Point Pleasant, upon payment of costs will be granted a divorce from her husband, Melzar D. Warren, Jr., 36. They were married May 31, in New York, N. Y. They have one daughter.

Judge Edward G. Biester, in Quarter Sessions Court, sentenced Eugene S. Bradley, Philadelphia, who pleaded guilty of stealing a truck, June 25, 1950, to serve not less than 30 days nor more than 23 months. A Langhorne sub-station Police man made the arrest. The charges were larceny, receiving stolen goods, and operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner.

Frank Smith, 37, Doylestown, formerly of Langhorne, charged with assault and battery with intent to ravish, assault and battery, indecent assault, open lewdness and public indecency, went on trial for the second time before Judge Edward G. Biester, Tuesday afternoon.

The defendant, who was arrested in January, has been in the county prison awaiting trial. Miss Mary Raika, 61, West State street, testified that on January 2nd the defendant behaved in an ungentlemanly manner in her rooming house. She also testified that he followed her into her own apartment and acted indecently.

Because Miss Raika refused to answer questions asked by the defendant's attorney during the trial, Judge Biester discharged the jury and also the defendant. It is also claimed that Miss Raika caused a mistrial in February when she termed the defendant "sex crazy."

John T. Daly, 54, Philadelphia, who was arrested here by Officer John J. McIntyre, May 14, was fined $200 and the costs of prosecution by President Judge Keller after pleading guilty to drunken driving. He had no operator's license and was driving the car of a friend when apprehended.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Samuel Gaskell
Pastor
Tullytown, Emille, Fallsington
Methodist Churches

The Shadow of the Almighty. (Psalm 91:1)

What a relief on a hot summer day to find a shady spot. You will recall that in the desert journeys of Israel, there was a cloud hovered over the Tabernacle, and probably over the camp, to protect Israel from the burning rays of the desert sun.

Do you know that each day, and every day, you can live in the Shadow cast by the Presence of the Almighty? It is truly so, and in that shadow, find complete protection.

One of our well known hymns, beautifully expresses the thought:

"Beneath the Cross of Jesus
I fain would take my stand,
The shadow of a mighty rock
Within a weary land;

A Home within the wilderness,
A rest upon the way,
From the burning of the noon-tide heat,
And the burden of the day."

These simple meditations will have little meaning for you, unless the heart, and will, and life have been yielded to the Lord Jesus Christ. That is the key to the mystery.

hats. The junior bridesmaid was in pink organdy, and the flower girl in aqua organdy. All carried cascades of mixed flowers.

Mr. Louis Luciano, Tullytown, was best man. Mr. Norman Hetherington, Bristol, Mr. Leo Clark, Philadelphia, Mr. Philip Dinatale, Tullytown, were ushers. Phillip Egert served as ring-bearer. All were attired in white coats and dark trousers.

A turkey dinner followed the ceremony for the bridal party and the immediate family. The reception this evening will be held in Croydon Fire Co. hall with 300 guests attending. Music will be provided by an orchestra.

The couple will spend two weeks honeymoon in Florida and other points south.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were rhinestone sets, each consisting of bracelet, choker and earrings; to the junior bridesmaid, a necklace, and to the flower girl a ring. The bridegroom's gifts were cuff links; and a ring for the ring-bearer.

The bride chose a dress of powder blue with pink accessories and wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet for her trip.

Mr. Stake is employed by Pateron Parchment Paper Co., Edgely. Miss Founds conducts a dancing school here.

Mrs. Founds, mother of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue sheer print, with white accessories. Mrs. Stake wore a dress of powder blue with white accessories. Both wore corsages of roses.

SURPRISE WIN IS CHALKED BY FIFTH WARD OVER SECOND

Fifth Ward Sporting Club scored a surprising 5-2 win over Second Ward A. C. last evening in a Bristol Softball League game on Memorial field.

It was the second straight loss for the 1950 champions and third defeat of the season for "Chick" Stansky.

The winning hurler was Henry Liberatore who blanked the Second Warders for six frames. A double by Palumbo, scoring Pezullo, and a hit by Elwood Mount gave the losers their runs in the final canto.

Liberatore gave up seven hits while Fifth Ward got to Stansky for 11 blows. Three of the hits were made by Joe Pica. Mount had three hits for Second Ward. Liberatore drove in the first Fifth Ward run with a triple.

Pica had a triple in the third with Pico on base but was out at the plate, trying to stretch the hit into a homer.

Assure Police Ass'n of Banning of Sparklers

SELLERSVILLE, June 2—Fourth of July sparklers are illegal and will be banned under the fireworks law, members of Bucks County Police Association have been assured, following a conference with their solicitor, Arthur M. Eastburn, Jr., and the district attorney's office.

Chief County Detective Fred H. Kohler, Doylestown, and Chief of Police Newton B. Rapp, Quakertown, reported that sparklers, despite some high-pressure sales talk, are legally considered fireworks, just as much as any other explosive, dangerous type fire cracker.

County Detective William L. Stackhouse, Doylestown, who some time ago urged Bucks County Fire Police to aid in stamping out the sparkler nuisance, also assisted the police association in ascertaining the stand the law takes with reference to sparklers.

Borough officers were urged to crack down on the sale of them within the borough limits and call Pennsylvania State Police if they are sold in the townships, or outside of the borough boundaries.

About 75 law enforcement officers attended a clambake, prepared by Mrs. Clarence Cash, Lansdale, at the American Legion Home, here, on Thursday.

Donald B. Smith, Esq., of Perkasie, spoke on "Preparing a Case for Court."

Constable Clarence K. Wenhold, Quakertown, president, announced that H. E. Klausfelder, Steinsburg, will serve as instructor of a pistol team.

The next meeting will be at Sellersville, the host, urged closer inter-county and metropolitan police cooperation.

President Wenhold announced that another clambake will be held at the same place, Sept. 9th.
